Alcoholism Rate Below Average Here

(Special to the Advocate)

New York, Sept. 10 — How much alcoholism is there in Crawford County? How many problem drinkers are there? How does the situation locally compare with that elsewhere?

The subject has been brought to the fore by recent reports from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, by various medical studies and by a recent gathering in New York of business leaders seeking some way of cutting the staggering industrial loss due to drinking employees.

From a cost standpoint, it has been termed the annual "billion dollar hangover."

In Crawford County, alcoholism appears to be less prevalent than in most parts of the United States. Locally, the reports indicate, there are a total of 97 problem drinkers — excessive drinkers with a compulsion for liquor.

On the average, it is found only about one out of every 100 people in this category are "alcoholics with complications," which refers to those who have developed "recognizable physical or mental symptoms" due to uncontrolled drinking.

The figures are based on studies showing that the amount of alcoholism in a given community is proportional to the number of deaths from cirrhosis of the liver. The cirrhosis figures, for every part of the country, were supplied by the U. S. Public Health Service.

Don Jansen New Chamber Head

Donald Jansen of Graying was revealed as the new president of the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce at the annual dinner meeting held at the Graying Legion Hall last Thursday night.

Well over 100 Chamber members and their wives attended the affair which was an indication by Joseph Hull. An excellent roast beef dinner was served by the members of the Junior Ladies Aid of the Graying Evangelical Lutheran Church prior to the program.

Herbert Wolff acted as the master of ceremonies for the program and after a brief introductory talk, introduced the new president, first vice-president Leon Rochette, second vice-president Earl Johnson, treasurer Richard Dubeois and secretary-manager Robert Hayes. Re-elected to the board of directors were Frank Bond and Wolff. John Latuszek was elected to the board to replace Robert Strong who did not seek re-election.

William Sorenson, last year's president, is also a member of the Board. He was unable to attend the annual meeting but a gift lighter properly engraved will be presented to him as a memento of his year at the head of the county chamber.

Secretary-manager Hayes spoke briefly on the work accomplished during the past year and some of the plans for the future. Treasurer Dubeois gave a financial report. Master of ceremonies Wolff then introduced the speaker of the evening, Richard O. Cook, assistant executive Vice President of the Michigan Retailers Association, who was recently named to "Who's Who in the Midwest" for his outstanding legislative activity in Michigan. Cook holds both his bachelor and master degrees from the University of Michigan and also was a member of the faculty there.

The speaker touched upon the activities of a Chamber of Commerce and the job being accomplished by the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce and its manager, Bob Hayes. Mr. Cook then launched into a resume of legislative activity both on the national and state level and brought to the attention of many insights into the thinking behind some of the attempted changes and introduction of new laws.

He stressed that there are now both in Washington and Lansing two schools of thought, one of which he described as "give-away Socialism," the other as the "free enterprise" school which made the United States and the American way of life what it is today.

He traced the battle for control on various legislation by the followers of the two schools of thought.

MUSKIE FISHIN' CHAMPS

By Charles L. Pojinski

Mr. and Mrs. Pietz with last year's muskie. Weight, 30 lbs., girth, 23 in., and 4 feet long. Mrs. Pietz is only 5' 2" tall.

Rowboats, runabouts, and sea-worthy yachts were busy trolling the white cap waters of Lake St. Clair. Determined fishermen caught and released many muskies under thirty and thirty-five inches in hope of snagging into one much larger. This is the beginning of a muskie derby.

Near the spillway by Alpena, Mrs. Pietz, 16, a runabout was trolling, came what was the congested water traffic. Marty Pietz and his wife Jennie, were tense with excitement and anxiety as their two lures tried to attract the "Tiger of the water." The fisherman looked at his watch and saw they had been fishing for almost two hours. But sometimes the muskie fisherman may fish for several hours, or even days without getting a single strike.

In a wide circle the boat turned about and began to trace its old course back. Suddenly the reel handle spun harshly against the man's knuckles. It was a big strike. The rod came back hard and the hook was firmly set. "Muskie on!" As line smoldered from the reel, the stout rod came to life with pulsating throb. Quickly Jennie reeled in her line and cut the boat's speed to almost nothing.

The spool of line dissolved until only a few short yards were left. Marty set the reel drag tighter until he feared something might break. He yelled, "Coming to the top, Honey!" One hundred fifty yards astern the mighty muskie lunged clear water and contorted itself in a desperate attempt to shake the hook loose. Down, down, it went until near the sandy bottom. With a burst of speed it angled toward the small craft. Hastily Marty reeled in slack line as Jennie maneuvered the boat sideways. From portside the trophy fish exploded to the surface. Man and wife looked on as the monster churned the water with thrashing tail. Over it rolled and nosed for the bottom.

Then minutes passed... twenty... the fish began to fight sluggishly... thirty minutes. Marty eased the rod back and slowly the muskie gave ground. Inches at a time lost line was gained until "Get the net, Honey!" Honey got the net. Water splewed in every direction as the protesting monster was drawn closer to the craft. Both sportsmen gasped aloud when the miniature whale was within a few feet of the stern. This was no chore for a net! Jennie grabbed the gaff hook and made herself ready while the distance narrowed between fish and boat. With a well-aimed lunge, the gaff came down in a gleaming arch and caught the still lively fish beneath the gillcovering. "Marty, give me a hand!" Marty put his rod down and hurriedly grabbed the long handled gaff. Together the fishing team pulled the thrashing brute on board, then jumped back as large, tooth-encrusted jaws snapped defiantly — and dangerously.

Now comes the hardest part. Waiting for summers end to see who wins the fishing contest. Through many letters of query I was able to compile the following information.

From what off-shore land mark were you fishing by Mrs. Pietz? "The spillway near Metropolitan Beach."

At what speed, Mr. Pietz, were you trolling when the muskie was caught? "Somewhat faster than normal. We had tried slower speeds but they just would not strike. Finally Jennie suggested we go a little faster. It was then that the muskelunge struck."

Will you, Jennie, tell me what the weather was like and how long you two fished that day? It was very rough that day. Twenty mile an hour winds came from the Canadian side of the lake. We fished two hours before the strike and it was another thirty-five minutes before Marty landed the muskie.

How big is the fish Marty? "It measured forty-three inches in length, nineteen inches in girth and weighed in at an even twenty-two pounds." How deep was the water there and what type of lure did you catch him on? "In that particular stretch of water I would say the depth is about twelve feet. The wife and I were both fishing with a number two swim-zag lure." Is that your favorite type of lure? "It is now."

Would you, Jennie, tell us something about the Muskie Derby, and are both of you just contestants, or are you regular members of the Muskie Club? "We are both regular members of the Muskie Club. It is sponsored by Tom George of radio station WJBK in Detroit. Both Michiganders and Canadians may participate in this yearly contest." What is first prize this year? "First prize winner will have their muskie mounted for free and two muskie rods."

Are you relatively new in the field of muskelunge fishing Mr. Pietz? "No, we have fished muskies for a good number of years, but this is the first muskie contest we have ever entered." Is this the biggest one you ever caught? "Last year my wife and I took three from the same spot we caught this year's fish. Jennie caught two which were both about thirty-six inches. The same year, near the end of season, she landed onto one that really tore up some tackle. She felt pretty bad about losing it."

When results come in from the fishing contest will you be sure and let the readers know what the results are? "Be more than happy to," was both of their replies. Good luck, Mr. and Mrs. Pietz.

The Something For Nothing Delusion

Writing in Reader's Digest, no less an authority than director of the Budget, Maurice H. Stans, gives this country a much-needed warning.

His point is that the nation's solvency is gravely threatened by the something-for-nothing delusion — the idea that money which comes from Washington somehow doesn't cost us anything.

In his words, "Despite the plain evidence of what government deficit spending and inflation have done to our dollar, bills have been introduced in Congress this session that would burden the national debt by another $30 billion a year." Then, he cites specific areas where federal spending can be curbed and vast sums saved. These include the farm programs; slum clearance; benefits to veterans for disabilities not connected with military service; rural electrification (U. S. arms are now 95 per cent electrified); and various kinds of public assistance.

One of the biggest reasons for the swelling federal budget and the weight of taxation lies in federal spending for purposes and things which people should either provide for themselves, or which should be provided by state and local government. This let-the-federal-government-do-anything philosophy, unless checked, can lead only to ruinous inflation and a national financial collapse that would make the depression of the 30's look like a picnic.

Right At Home . . .

During Mr. Khrushchev's visit to the United States, we will experience many surprises. Not the least of these may be his contemplated visit to TVA.

We have heard about Russia's five-year and ten-year plans for power development and the progress that has been made.

Mr. Khrushchev should feel right at home in TVA — and where a government power monopoly has wiped out private power development as completely as a Russian power project.

When he sees other similar government power projects scattered over the U. S., producing over 20 per cent of the nation's electric power, he will realize that advocates of socialism have already made great headway in what he has abused as a capitalistic nation. He may feel the day he predicts for our children is nearer than he hoped for.

Government in business is socialism and it is difficult to find the difference between a Russian power project and one of our own federal power projects so far as destruction of rights and liberties is concerned.

Is Profit Sinful? . . .

"Occasionally we read of certain people criticizing corporations because they have had a profitable year. They take the attitude that it is almost sinful to make a profit."

That observation comes from William Park, chairman of the board of the American Stores chain grocery system. And it deals with a state of mind that presents a very real danger to the welfare and future progress of this country.

For, as Mr. Park points out, the whole free enterprise system, and all the employment and job security it provides, depends on profits. In his words, "It is from these profits that money comes for further growth and expansion of the business, providing additional job opportunities. It is also from profits that stockholders receive dividends for the use of their money which they have invested to finance the business." It's certainly obvious that if there were no chance of profit, people wouldn't put their savings into business — and progress would come to an abrupt end.

Finally, the profits earned by enterprise, for the most part, are smaller than is generally realized — in the case of grocery chains, 1 to 2 cents on each dollar of sales. Other types of chain systems show similar results. The customer gets a huge amount of service for a mighty small "wage."

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVA LANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

September 17, 1936

Weather conditions were no doubt responsible for the fine turnout of the Old Timers of Crawford County at Beaver Creek town hall on September 6th. Over five hundred people were present to take part in the activities. There are always many out-of-town visitors and each year these former Crawford residents, some of them of over fifty years standing, drop business relations and hurry to our community, joining old friends here, to take part in the annual celebration. And, thus, each year they are given this opportunity of discussing old times and bringing back treasured memories of those first days. Mrs. Carrie Feldhauser, oldest old-timer to take part in this year's gathering, gave a most interesting account of their first trip to this country as settlers. That was way back in 1880 and homesteaders took stock of the hardships and struggles yet to be met with and calmly went ahead with their building, land clearing, and grading; molding a country which now rates among the best of northern communities. Mrs. Feldhauser is over eighty years of age and has the pep and stamina of the middle ages. When she tells of those days her eyes light up and you really see the things she tells about. She recalls their first journey into Grayling as settlers with three families sharing the one wagon, together with household goods, one or two crates of chickens, etc. The party was made up of Mr. and Mrs. Feldhauser and sons Henry and Will, and Mrs. Feldhauser's brother, the late Rudolph Kerns; Hugo Schreiber and two children Hugo, Jr. and Pauline, now Mrs. Rufus Edmonds; Sr. and Mrs. Peter Aebi and daughter Mollie. The latter will be remembered as Mrs. John Niederer who passed away several years ago. The families were among the first group to settle on the Ausable River. Plaques are to be awarded to the oldest settlers of Crawford County as follows: Mrs. Carrie Feldhauser, 56 years; Edgar Wilkinson, 55 years; Lyle D. Sewell, 51 years; Ralph Hanna, Traverse City, 50 years; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barber, Roscommon, 50 years; Mrs. John Love, 48 years; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Love, 48 years.

Miss Margrethe Nielsen left last Saturday for a two week trip in the East, visiting Washington, D. C., New York City and other points of interest.

Lewis Stillwagon of Lovells left Sunday for Alma, where he entered Alma College.

John and Jean Michelson left for their home in Detroit Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Michelson drove back on Monday. The family had been spending the summer at Lake Margrethe.

For several weeks workmen been busy building a new modern car service station for Holger (Dad) Hanson on the lot corner of Cedar and Ogema streets for use of Leo Schram as a Sinclair Service Station. This week sees the culmination of one of the finest and most artistic stations anywhere in the north. The station is owned by Holger Hanson and has been leased to the Sinclair Oil Co. for a term of years. Mr. Schram owns the stock and will be the manager-owner. The place would be a credit to any city regardless of its size.

Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Keyport and Mrs. A. J. Joseph spent Thursday and Friday in Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Welsh and son Fred, Jr., drove to Delafield, Wis., Tuesday, where Fred is returning to St. John's Military Academy.

Mrs. Eva Wingard left yesterday to visit her daughter, Mrs. William Simpson at Romeo, and her son William at Ypsilanti, expecting to be gone for a couple of weeks.

Miss Helma Corsaut of Fredrick and Miss Edna Small of Lovells left Sunday to attend school at West Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. Devere Wolcott enjoyed having as their guests over the weekend the latter's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smith and children of Plainwell, Mich.

Irving Cady and family are moving from South Branch to Grayling, into the house recently vacated by the Griffith family. Mr. Cady is an operator on one of the passenger busses that pass through Grayling.

Elmer Fenton has returned from McMillan, where he was employed during the summer.

School has started and the Lovells pupils seem to enjoy going to Frederic to school.

Mrs. Edgar Cady of Lovells is teaching school in Frederic, and Mrs. Margaret Douglas is teaching in Grayling.

Mrs. Frank Sales returned Friday from a ten-day visit with relatives and friends at Detroit, Chicago and Toledo. While in Toledo

Mrs. Sales was a dinner guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Herselroths, as a guest of Dr. and Mrs. P. E. Bethards. Mr. and Mrs. Herselroths own the home of the notorious gangster, Thomas "Yonnie" Licavoli, who is now in a Federal penitentiary together with most of his gang. Mrs. Sales gives a very vivid description of the building and grounds. She says that the house itself is quite large and surrounded with a huge lawn fenced in heavily with fence and shrubbery and with a cement wall separating the rear of the property from the front. She says she saw the tree under which the gangsters used to hold their conferences and was in the secret chamber in which they used to hide in times of danger. The basement contains a bar room and the original arsenal, equipped just as it was formerly. Mrs. Sales says it is very interesting. She also visited the Ford Rotunda in Detroit.

Don Gothro has gone to Ypsilanti where he will take a business course at Cleary Business College.

Arnold Jerome left Monday for Olivet, where he will carry on his studies. He was accompanied by Wilbur Walton of East Lansing, who has been visiting here.

Emil Kraus, Jr., returned Sunday to Detroit, to resume his studies at the University of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Balch are moving into the new Tatro apartments.

Bud Darveau is taking over the management today of the Sinclair gas station formerly managed by Leo Schram, and invites his friends to make him a call.

Dr. Don M. Howell of Alma was a weekend guest of Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Keyport.

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS No Going Steady When One Is Away

A young lady from Carolina writes: "Several weeks ago my fellow went into the service. We are planning to be married next year when I finish school. We love each other very much, but we think it best not to go steady while he is in Texas. Do you think this is the right thing to do?"

Couldn't be righter. For many reasons. One is that a boy and girl cannot go "steady" when they are many miles apart. The only thing they can do is to promise not to date while they are apart. Regardless of how sincere they are, their feelings, each to each, tend to wonder from time to time if the other is living up to the "no date" agreement. This is not to say that you can't "trust" anybody — only that couples who are going steady — and then must be separated — should make up their minds individually as to whether or not they will have "dates" while they are apart.

SEVENTY ATTEND LA GROW REUNION

Seventy of approximately 175 members of the LaGrow family enjoyed a family reunion Saturday afternoon and evening at the Bowhunters' Club in Grayling. Nine of the eleven LaGrow brothers and sisters were there. They are Mrs. Doris Seymour, Mrs. Azilda Dreher and Henry LaGrow, all of Detroit; Mrs. Carrie McClain, Wesley LaGrow and William LaGrow of Grayling; Mrs. Jack LaGrow of Cleveland, Ohio; Jack LaGrow of Plymouth, and Mrs. Yvonne Overley of Allen Park. The two not attending are Mr. Francis LaGrow of Roseville and Ebbon LaGrow of St. Clair.

A delicious potluck lunch was served at the club. The club members are certain to receive invitations and most likely will want to attend dances, too. No, a boy and girl can't go "steadily" anymore. It can't go steady with someone a thousand or more miles away. And, they make the wrong decision when they decide to sit like a bump on a log and not go anywhere until they are together again.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation, make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, WARDEN, AL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, PHANFORTH, MI.

Hall and made posters, also fixed up the hall on Achievement Day. Saturday night, September 12th, was Achievement Day. We had a nice turn out. We had several excellent demonstrations, also a very good dress review. The County Agent, Mr. Kearns, showed a film on "4-H Club Congress at Chicago." There were a good number of exhibits prepared by the 4-H members.

The Club will have a social get together in a few weeks. This completes our 4-H for this summer.

For Achievement Day we chose committees to do different things. We talked about our demonstrations.

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS

Who's 'Chicken'—and Who Has Courage?

A TEENAGE boy writes: "I like the 'crowd' I run around with, but sometimes they think up mischievous things to do that could get us into trouble. I caught I hate to be 'chicken,' so I usually go along. If I just watch, am I as guilty as they are when mischief is done?"
Guilty — and 'chicken.' We're not talking about 'guilt by association' or the fact that people usually judge the character of a person by the company he or she keeps. A man who waits in the car while two buddies go in to rob a bank is just as guilty as they if he knew they intended to rob the bank. There is no such thing as "going along for the ride."

On the question of being 'chicken'
—think about a moment and the realization comes that going along with the crowd is always the easiest thing to do. Standing on one's own feet, making decisions for one's self — here is where courage comes in.
It is human nature to want to "belong" — to be part of a gang, group, or association, whatever it might be called. Yet, neither a teenager nor an adult should be willing to sacrifice his individuality or forget the difference between
"right" and "wrong" to continue to "belong." It's too high a price
to pay.
Actually, if the truth be known,
our friends usually respect us more if they see that we have the courage to think and act for ourselves. Refusing to do something that we know is wrong is not a sign of weakness; it is evidence of character. Refusing to go along with the crowd "just for the ride" is evidence of courage as an individual—not as a member of a group or gang.
More often than not in this life,
it takes more courage to say "no"
than to say nothing.
If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR
AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATION-AL YOUTH COUNCIL, NEWSPAPER SER-VICE, FRANKFORD, KY.

RAISES BROADLEAF TOBACCO — In addition to his hobbies of raising fine bird dogs and his marksmanship on the rifle range, Dr. B. M. Godfrey of Traverse City raises fine tobacco. On his farm in Crawford County he has produced an excellent quality of broadleaf cigar wrapper type tobacco and this year has some outstanding plants. The one which is shown in this picture is a seed plant with which Dr. Godfrey is endeavoring to improve the Wisconsin type to better adapt it to the sandy loam of his Crawford County farm. Because tobacco burns with a 14 percent residue, the soil must be heavy with lime and potash and quite alkaline.

State Legislature Only Passes Two Of Governor's 16 "Must" Bills

ONLY TWO OF 16 BILLS fa-voled "urgently needed" by Gov.
G. Mennen Williams cleared the legislature this year.

The governor early in June sent a special message to the legislature urging action on bills dealing with employment, business, education, and highway and industrial safety.

Selection of the measures deferred to a committee—another—the controversial "K-12" bill to force school consolidation—passed the House but was shelved in the Senate Education Committee.

One of the bills was the proposal to create a state Seal of Quality for agricultural products. Williams has been advocating this for 11 years.

Success came to a widely backed motorboat safety bill providing for numbering of motorboats
under a federal system. The bill, sought by Williams' Water-Safety Commission, extended jurisdiction of local enforcement agencies.

Defects in 1956 legislation were corrected by the second of the 16
priority bills.

Certain procedural and technical imperfections were noted after the 1956 legislature passed the Development Credit Corporation
Act, a government-sponsored plan used with success by other states in encouraging industrial development.

The legislature corrected this by permitting industrial development credit corporations to acquire land.

Another industrial lure, a measure to permit establishment of industrial park authorities, failed.
It would have permitted the acquisition of property, borrowing of money and issuing of bonds to develop industrial parks.

The bill was considered necessary to encourage communities to develop suitable land for plant development.

Despite emphasis the past year
on Michigan's "business climate", Williams and the legislature were unable to agree on means of fostering programs to attract new industry.

The legislature was a forum for criticism of Michigan's economic climate. Little was done to build Michigan.

Scandals That Develop in the Secretary of State's Branch System are soon forgotten by most.
But Secretary of State James M.
Hare, who thinks he has a remedy,

remembers.
More than 50 branch managers have been removed from their jobs in the last four years for misuse of funds, sloppy bookkeeping
or other improper activities.
There has been a turnover of about 280 managers—about the number of branches—in the last four years.

"A great many got in and got out," Hare said. "They came in for a living."

"We've been averaging a new branch manager every 10 days.
"It's a bad system from end to end."

Hare's suggested remedy: put the managers under civil service
instead of allowing them to be appointed—by Hare.

"I have no objection to patronage," Hare said, "but not when millions of dollars are involved."

The Civil Service Commission,
which has 12 large branch offices under its jurisdiction now, is considering doing the same with about 80 more.

But Hare wants them all covered by civil service.

Unless managers are busy
enough to be fulltime employees,
the Commission does not want any part of Hare's plan.

IT WON'T BE LONG. Members
of the Michigan Christmas Tree Growers' Association are making plans for their rush season.

Nearly 13,000 growers, many of them businessmen and professional workers, are raising Christmas trees this year.

Thirty million Christmas trees are planted each year by commercial growers. About seven million become saleable every winter. But only two million will likely be sold this December, the association said in reminding its members to prepare for Christmas shopping.

THE WORLD OUTDOORS

"BOY, you sure had good luck!" How many times have you heard this remark when some angler pulled into the boat dock with a limit catch? You'll hear it every time, for it's as natural to associate "luck" with fishing as it is to think of ham and eggs at breakfast time.

There is some "luck" in successful fishing, of course, as there is in everything else—but "luck" is not nearly so important as experience, perseverance, and know-how.

The difference between a limit catch and one or two fish may be as little as 10 inches or so: the experienced, persevering angler will toss his plug or cast his fly right up to the shoreline, fight against tree trunks and submerged logs; his fellow fisherman may fall short a foot or more with his cast time after time and lament the fact that the fish just "aren't taking."

The experienced angler places much emphasis on "technique." When he brings out a new lure, he follows the manufacturer's recommendations to the letter—then he experiments, retrieving in a slow, then a fast, then an erratic manner. When he catches a fish, he remembers the particular action that he was giving the lure at the moment of the strike and he repeats that action on following casts.

The most common mistake among inexperienced anglers is that of fishing too fast. They toss out the lure and then see how fast they can reel it in. They expect the lure to do all the work and at the same time they move it so fast that the fish has to get into high gear to make even so much as a "peek" at it. If they would slow it down and latch on to the habit of accurate casting, slower retrieval—and perseverance—they would be more likely to land a fish. "Eure had good luck, didn't you?"

PRODUCTIVITY PAY WINDOW

PAYS
EVERYBODY
IN TOWN

Productivity is a great quality to possess. It can do more to make a town prosperous than almost anything.

Productivity is the delivery of a full measure by machines, money, men or materials. The best productivity results from constant striving to better past performance. Productivity pays off for everybody whenever everybody works at it.

When it comes to attracting business, a new industry for example, the very reputation for productivity will give your town a special pulling power. Competition these days makes it necessary for a company, or town, to have productivity around in plain sight. Otherwise the company or the town won't be in plain sight very long.
